We offer specific internships within our Marketing Team, Administration Team, & Sales Teams – and all follow a structured induction process in just the same way as all our new staff do.

We look for the following skills, experience & personality types –

- Enthusiastic & confident
- Proactive & able to work independently
- Good written & spoken English
- Strong computer literacy (experience with Microsoft Excel, Word are pre-requisites)
- Attention to detail

An example of tasks and processes that our interns get the opportunity to work on:

- Drafting travel itineraries
- Uploading content to our website
- Writing blog posts
- Updating weekly and monthly reports
- Editing our range of guidebooks
- Office management tasks including post & printing
- Answering the telephone in a polite and professional manner
- Participating in supplier meetings and team brainstorming sessions
- Attending client or media events

At the end of the internship...

... you will have a foot on the ladder in the travel industry.

... you will probably have gained more practical business skills than many people get during a 3-year travel degree course.

... a week before the end of all internships, we sit down and review the experience, and to understand what you plan to do next. Where possible, we will help with suggestions, guidance and introductions.

... most interns go on to successfully find employment within the travel industry.

... and we always offer new job opportunities to our current and previous interns... who knows your internship could lead to a permanent job.
